EDITORIAL

We have great pleasure in presenting the 1986 edition of Business Studies. First of all, we wish to thank Sh. Dharam Raj Singh Sodhi, Chairman—Governing Body, and Dr. N. A. Siddique, Principal of the College, for providing us adequate funds to enable us to bring out a relatively voluminous edition. Like our previous issues, the present edition includes the contributions from eminent academicians. Besides, the students of the college have also contributed the informative and interesting articles. The information on some of the latest developments in the areas of commerce, finance, taxation, management and economics has been given briefly in the “Do you know that ?” column.

This issue is dedicated to the memory of Prof. T. S. Grewal—the doyen of commerce education in the country. Prof. Grewal—a tall Gandhian, was a prince among teachers. Certainly, his death has created an infinite vacuum which may never be filled. Prof. Grewal was also the member of the college governing body for quite some time. This issue carries two of his articles that bear ample testimony to his authoritative and scholastic currency in the fields of accounting and management.

We hope the readers will be benefited from this edition like our earlier ones.
